NEW YEAR QUESTIONS TO ASK

Now is an excellent time to reflect on your past accomplishments and begin your planning for your next big year! Here are some questions to get your planning started:

What were your two or three most significant accomplishments, breakthroughs, and/or achievements in 2010?

What (if anything) blocked or held you back from achieving more?

Knowing what you know now, what would you have done differently?

As you look forward to 2011, what are your three top goals?

What do you want your business to look like on this day next year?

What are the specific actions you are willing to take to get there?
